

Size of companies reviewed

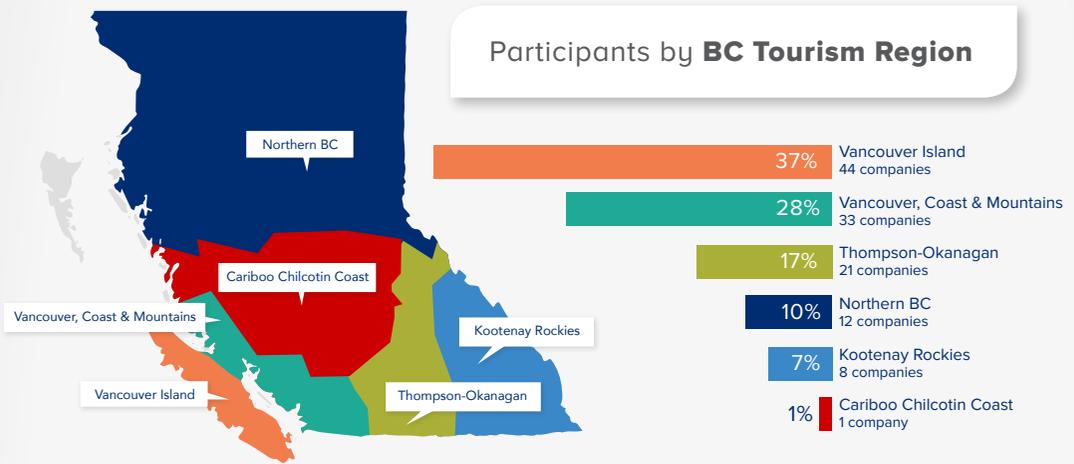

Seasonality of companies reviewed

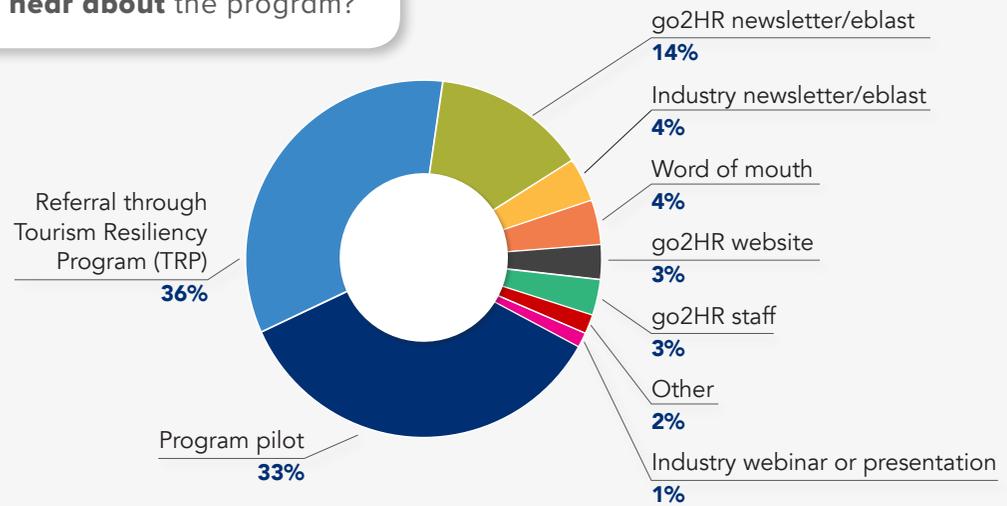

Types of businesses

Participants by BC Tourism Region

How did businesses first hear about the program?

Top 5 Topics Overlooked by Safety Plans

If you are preparing or reviewing your safety plan, take a moment to check that you have factored these points in, if applicable.

- #1 Involving workers in the risk assessment process
- #2 Return to work protocols for workers who have tested positive for COVID-19
- #3 Protocol for workers or guests that become symptomatic onsite
- #4 Worker training on the proper use and storage of cleaning suppliers
- #5 Process for reviewing, updating, and amending safety plan

Testimonials

Thank you for this review of our COVID-19 safety plans. I've found this review to be very helpful in identifying missing or deficient aspects of our plans. I have updated our policies to reflect all of the suggestions made in your findings, and we will endeavor to continue to monitor and adapt our policies to ensure we are maintaining the highest standards of health and safety.

Simon Vine
Executive Chef
Black Sheep Restaurant Group

After only being operational for 6 months of 2020 we had plenty of time to write, re-write and write again our COVID-19 Safety Plan with each ebb and flow of COVID-19 regulations. Being in our own bubble for so long, we jumped at the chance to share it with outside eyes of the professionals at go2HR. We thank them for their thoughtful review and suggestions and appreciate the service they are offering to the industry.

Melody McLorie
Human Resources Manager
Wickaninnish Inn

If you have any questions regarding workplace health and safety or need support with any aspect of your COVID-19 safety plan, please contact us via phone: 604-633-9787 or email: safety@go2hr.ca

To register for a complimentary review of your safety plan, visit our COVID-19 Safety Plan Review Initiative page.